DETAILED ACTION

Double Patenting

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 62-92 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-8 of U.S. Patent No. 6017834 in view of Bonfield et al (5017627). As set forth below, 6017834 discloses all elements of applicant's invention except the use of filler. The use of fillers, such as apatite, in polymeric composites is common and well known in the art and is taught by Bonfield et al.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 62-92 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ward et al (6017834) in view of Bonfield et al (5017627).

Ward is concerned with the creation of composite material used in bone prostheses. Said composite comprising molecularly oriented polymeric fibers and a recrystallized melt phase of the same polymer (abstract, col. 1-2, and lines 50-21). Ward does not seem to disclose the use of a filler.

Bonfield's patent is concerned with the creation of a composite material used in bone prostheses. Bonfield teaches the use of a polymeric composite comprising up to 80% of a particulate filler of hydroxyapatite (cols. 1-2, lines 59-24). It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art to utilize the filler taught by Bonfield in the composite of Ward. Such a combination would have been motivated by the reasoned expectation of providing Ward's composite with reinforcement and enhanced stiffness, in order to strengthen the composite (col. 2, lines 13-15).

Ward discloses a fiber length under .5mm (col. 3, line 30).

Said composite is void free (col. 2, lines 3-5).

With respect to claims 72-82, the composite created by the combination of Ward and Bonfield would inherently have the properties claimed by applicant because said composite is composed of the same materials in the same amounts as claimed by applicant.

Ward discloses the use of a high modulus polyethylene anticipating the weight average molecular weight claimed by applicant (col. 3, lines 50-60).
